Dear Henry,

I'll enclose a few more copies of our booklet, Directors and Deputy Directors of Central Intelligence: Dates and Data, 1946-1983, which I promised you last month.

I gather that the new academic year began 14 August, so by now you must be fighting the Peloponnesian Wars. I hope that you'll look out for my old friend, Bob Jordan, who has joined you in Strategy this year; as a political scientist (even an Oxford educated one) he may need help with some of the longer words in our required readings.

It was very good to see you in July, and I hope that you'll let me know when you find your way down here, so that we can get together for a meal or a drink. In the meantime, give my warm greetings to Barbara Campbell, who I trust is still keeping the Strategy Department on an even keel.

Yours,

/s/
